TRABAJO ORIENTATIVO

A. Read the text and write T for True or F for False.

Mermaids

Mermaids are beautiful creatures that are half woman and half fish. There are many stories, songs and poems about these creatures. But that's not all. For many years people have said that they have seen mermaids. Do you believe it or do you think that there aren't any mermaids? Well, read on and then decide.

On June 15, 1608 two seamen saw a woman in the middle of the sea. Her skin was white and she had long black hair. But she had no legs, her bottom half was like a fish. She was a mermaid. In 1812 a man in Exmouth saw and also heard a mermaid sing beautiful songs, while in 1870, on the coast of Aberdeenshire, a fisherman saw and spoke to a beautiful mermaid.

Another interesting story is that of six fishermen from the Isle of Yell. In 1833, they were fishing near the island when they saw a mermaid. She was about three feet long and very beautiful. She stayed on their boat for three hours and then she went back into the sea.

In 1830, on the island of Benbecula, some people on the beach saw a strange creature. It looked like a woman and it was playing in the sea. The people tried to catch it but they couldn't. A boy threw something at it and hit it. A few days later, the people found the creature on the beach but it was dead. The top half of its body was the size of a three-year old girl and it looked very human. It had soft white skin and long hair. Its bottom half was like a fish.

So next time you swim or sunbathe, keep your eyes open. You never know, you might see a mermaid!
